Period for Reply -- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 14 September 2009.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 11-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mencke et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,712,295) in combination with Mencke et al (WO 96/38165) or Chabala et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,199,569).

Mncke et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,712,295) disclose methods of treating endoparasitic infections with agonists and antagonists of the nicotinerigic acetyl-choline receptors.

Mencke et al (WO 96/38165) disclose methods of treating endoparasitic infections with avermectin or milbemycin, including moxidextin.

Chabala et al disclose methods of treating ectoparasitic infections with avermectins (column 5, last paragraph).

It would have been prima facie obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the claimed invention to treat an animal having both an endoparasitic infection and an ectoparasitic infection with a combination of known anti-endoparasitic agent and a known anti-ectoparasitic agent because such a person would have expected that said combination would be effective for the treatment of both types of infection.

Applicant's arguments filed September 14, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant contends that it was known to treat both endoparasites and ectoparasites in the same animal by two different treatment types while the present claims are limited to a single treatment such as dermal or oral administration. This argument has not been found persuasive. Mencke et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,712,295) disclose oral administration of agonists and antagonists of the nicotinic acetylcholine receptors (column 8, line 27). Chabala et al disclose oral administration of avermectins (column 6, line 63). Therefore, it would have been prima facie obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the claimed invention orally administer the combination of said compounds. Further, note that the present claimed are not limited to any specific type of administration. Applicant further contends that the cited prior art does not disclose the treatment of ectoparasitic infections. This argument has not been found persuasive since Chabala et al disclose the treatment of ectoparasitic infections (column 5, lines 65-68). Since both types of compounds encompassed by the present claims are known in the art to have the same type of administration and since the treatment of both types of infections was also known at the time of the present invention, the claimed method is still deemed prima facie obvious over the cited prior art.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
